Floor. Beam. Wall.

Every room we build rests on three lines: the floor it stands on, the beam that carries the load, and the wall that holds it all together. Our mark is those three lines, drawn as three separate bars that only touch at their corners.

Floor

The base cabinet and the plinth. Level, strong, made to last.

Beam

The worktop and the shelves that carry daily weight.

Wall

Tall units, panels and stone that frame the room.

Made for the way you cook.

We measure the room, plan the work triangle and draw the kitchen in 3D before anything is cut. You see the finish, the handles and the lighting first.

Layouts

Straight, L, U, parallel, island

Shutters

Acrylic, PU, laminate, veneer, glass

Worktops

Quartz, granite, sintered stone

Hardware

Soft close hinges and drawer runners
